

Linda Capello

Program Leader

Experience

As a Program Leader for Decker, Linda's enthusiasm for her clients is infectious. She is honored to foster program participants' growth as leaders and communicators as they learn and apply the Decker Method.

Linda has led communication trainings for companies from all sectors of business, including Bechtel, Charles Schwab, Cisco, Clorox, Experian, Fidelity, Google, Hewlett Packard, L'Oreal, Novartis, Robert Half, Samsung, Stryker, Sunland Asphalt, Trip Advisor, Visa, VMWare and YouTube.

Prior to joining Decker, Linda held leadership positions in industries ranging from not-for-profit to venture capital. Outside her life at Decker, Linda is the Communication Coach-in-Residence at the Stanford Graduate School of Business, and teaches entrepreneurial communication to Stanford undergraduates. Additionally, she developed the curriculum for, and taught, Stanford's first class on presentation design and delivery skills.

In her free time, she enjoys hiking, cycling, and reading. She lives in the SF Bay Area with her daughter, Katie.

Education

Linda has an MBA from the University of Connecticut, an MAT from Fuller Theological Seminary., and a BS in Accounting from Fairfield University. She also spent two years studying at the Academy of Art University.

About Decker Communications, Inc.

Decker Communications consults and trains businesses in communications—both in what they say and how they say it. Decker programs are transformational, creating focus and confidence to help leaders close the deal, launch an initiative or motivate action. Since 1979, Decker has prepared individuals to create the most effective communications experience possible. For more information, visit <http://decker.com>.

Contact

Email Linda: linda@decker.com Follow on Twitter: @deckercomm

